You may think that you know the women who are in your life today. We will take a closer look and see what the Word of God has to say about them. I have placed some women experiences in this book so you can hear about their experiences with the men that were in their lives. While writing this book, my intentions are not to justify any inappropriate behaviors, but to enlighten the male understanding of the women in their lives, and see how God values them in his earthly creation. In doing this, I wish to show the uniqueness of a woman through her God-given attributes that should produce joy and happiness to the man and at the same time help her to love and appreciate who she is as a woman. She serves as a complement.  God made a woman with delicate and feminine characteristics and has placed his love and nurturing ability in the female. God created them male and female with distinct abilities and traits. Although they were created differently physically, it is a miracle to see how God can merge them as one.
