When Memorial Day celebrations turn into murder investigations, amateur sleuth, Kelly Armello, and officer Troy Kennedy are thrown into another small-town cozy mystery with big repercussions.

Troy's veteran friend ends up dead, and Troy knows in his gut that there's foul play. But how can he prove it, when shady Chief Stark, newly restored to his role as police chief, seems to be set on running the town in his own fashion, even if that includes dealing in drugs and murder?

There are a lot of unanswered questions to solve and for Kelly and Troy that means more time together, not all of it dedicated to solving crimes.

Join our determined cozy couple as they solve another Settler Springs mystery, with a sprinkling of budding romance thrown in for good measure!
