Five steamy, full-length reverse harem romance stories of badass alpha males and the women they make their own.

The Inheritance: The old coot who used to hang out in my bar? Turned out he was a millionaire, and he just left me all his money. I only get his money if I'm twenty-five years old (check), and married (not checked). And I only have thirty days to pull this off.

The Renovation: When Carter, my hunky neighbor, spies me wrestling with a chunk of dry rot on the front porch, help seems on the way. Especially when Tanner, Wyatt, and Dig join the team just before the scumbag bank closes in. Who knew home repair could get so sexy?

The Promotion: Imagine you want a promotion more than anything at the law firm where you've slaved for years. There's one last thing you need to do. Would you do it?

The Gallery: They say don't go into business, or to bed, with friends. But what if those friends are four rich, handsome alpha players? That's my kind of business.

The Collection: I know better than to trust a bunch of pretty faces. But when four gorgeous men walk off the runway and into my life, I find it's not just the hours and lousy pay in fashion that are, um, hard.

Contains mature themes.
