Trying to navigate this scary new world, the survivors have a lot to learn about their enemy. Overnight, the alien infection has spread through the population at an alarming rate. There are many unanswered questions regarding the infected. Are they dead or alive? Are they zombies? Or are they aliens? Whatever they are, they're no longer human.

The infected only have one purpose, to serve the alien creatures that created them. They feed on the living until there's nothing left. Those who survive are a shell of their former selves with an insatiable hunger for flesh.

Join the survivors on the third day of their journey, where they've become the prey.
