Winner of the 2005 Gival Press Novel Award. A teenage girl from Greece discovers that her father isn't who she thought he was. A witty tale of passion, hypocrisy, and betrayal in a small town. "...a novel with wit and attitude to spare...her debut is a captivating and wild-tongued tale." (Dean Bakopoulos, author of Please Don't Come Back from the Moon)

"Reading this novel is like watching My Big Fat Greek Wedding with commentary by Roseanne Barr." (Thaddeus Rutkowski, author of Tetched)
